WELCOME

Welcome From Our Team

IT ALL STARTED WITH AN IDEA. AND MAYBE A FILM CLASS. OR, MAYBE...

... we could say that the Yellow Barn Film Festival was born this year. We could say that it was born last year, when Devon first had the idea to screen films in this historic barn. But the truth of the matter is, the Yellow Barn Film Festival has been in the works long before we curated the remarkable program you're about to witness and enjoy.

Film festivals are special. They bring together artists, film aficionados, casual movie goers and the film-curious together under one roof (or barn) to witness the powerful art of cinematic storytelling. They challenge and inspire.

This farm is also incredibly special. What was once a historic dairy farm and an international equestrian center, has now transformed into a regenerative farm, ripe and blooming with creativity and passion.

Then, maybe, this was always meant to be.

Thank you for joining us for our inaugural season, and here's to many more.

Bangarang,

WELCOME

Welcome From The Farm

WHERE YOU ARE STANDING TODAY ALMOST DID NOT EXIST.

In October of 2020, the Calwood fire swept through this beautiful patch of Land, stopping mere feet from our vital farm structures. And from the ashes of near-devastation, the Yellow Barn Farm was born.

Since our founding, we've accomplished quite a lot. We've partnered with a remarkable non-profit, Drylands Agroecology Research, to heal our scorched, overgazed land through regenerative agriculture. We've incubated dozens of small businesses, providing them with resources, infrastructure, and office space to help their projects thrive. We've hosted hundreds of events, from wellness classes to leadership summits to agriculture-focused workshops, and more.

And now, we are delighted to bring forth a celebration of Coloradan and Indigenous artistry, community, and the Land which has survived so much, and which brings us all together.

From our family to yours, we welcome you to the 1st Yellow Barn Film Festival. Enjoy!

Most Sincerely,

AZURAYE

About the Fest

STORIES INSPIRE, CHALLENGE AND MOVE THE SPIRIT. THE LAND CONNECTS US ALL.

The Yellow Barn Film Festival explores our collective relationship with the Land through programming of fiction, documentary, and art films. Here, we witness the Land's transformative power, its resilience in the face of adversity, and its capacity to inspire awe, reverence and action.

Our mission is to bridge the gap between art, nature, and community through storytelling.

LEARN ABOUT THE FEST

About the Farm

BIGGER THAN A BARN.
MORE THAN A FARM.

Yellow Barn Farm is a working regenerative farm cradled within the foothills of the Colorado Rocky Mountains, just north of Boulder.

YBF uses farming to build a holistic framework for agricultural, economical, and social systems in Northern Colorado. In addition to regenerative growing practices, YBF helps small businesses find their footing and nurture our community through events and education.

Accessibility

Despite our farm's rugged terrain, accessible pathways exist for our differently abled guests (even though they're mostly dirt).

Accessible parking spots are located near the Barn Box.

Restrooms

Accessible restrooms are available in the Yellow Barn and porta-potties outside of the barn.

Please maintain a low volume of conversation and activity while screenings are in process.

Off-Limits

We love our guests, and want them to enjoy our beautiful property. However, there are certain areas that are off-limits for the duration of our event, for either privacy or safety reasons.

See our property map for off-limits areas.

Step into the heart of the Yellow Barn Film Festival's mission and values with our shorts block, The Land and Us, a cinematic tribute to the roots that run deep in our communities and the Land beneath our feet. This carefully collection of films is a love letter to farming, ranching, and the resilient spirit of local agricultural practices.

Why is this focus on agricultural storytelling so crucial to us? Because our roots go deep – right into the soil of Yellow Barn Farm, our home nestled in the foothills of the Colorado Rocky Mountains. Our commitment to showcasing these stories is not just a mission; it's a reflection of the values we hold dear, echoing the heartbeat of a working regenerative farm.

Possibilities of Regeneration

2023 • USA • ENGLISH • 7 MIN.

The film explores the origins of regenerative agriculture, offering a story that is both new and ancient in its roots. If we expand the regenerative mindset beyond farming, what else is possible?

Welcome to the Yellow Barn Film Festival's unique and unapologetically eclectic showcase - the "No Rules" shorts block.

It's the cinematic rebel, the maverick of our lineup, refusing to be pigeonholed into conventional categories. In a nutshell, it's a wild, untamed collection of films where creativity knows no boundaries. We've tossed aside the rulebook and embraced the chaos, resulting in a smorgasbord of films that defy categorization.

What makes this block truly special is the diverse and captivating group of filmmakers who've fearlessly contributed to this cinematic potluck. From avant-garde dreamscapes to gripping real-life tales, it's a rollercoaster ride through the uncharted territories of storytelling.
